OHIO TAX PLAN IS LAW TODAY; NO SIGNATURE

White Vetoes Slot Machine Plan, Lets Rest of Program Go

PUT 2-CENT TAX ON BOTTLED BEER

All Save Cosmetics Proposal Become Effective At Midnight

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 21—Governor White today permitted the entire remaining senate taxation program to become law without his signature.

He had already vetoed one of the bills—that which would have provided for a tax on slot and other vending machines.

The bills permitted to become law today repeal one cent of the state gasoline tax and re-levy the tax for a state school fund.

Put a 2-cent excise tax on bottled beer and an additional levy on barrel beer.

Place a 10 per cent tax on cosmetics; and

A 10 per cent tax on all amusement admissions over 41 cents.

All save the cosmetics tax measure become effective at midnight.

It is effective August 1.

Revenues from the one cent gasoline tax, which was expanded in the bill to levy on fuel oils also, will go to schools.

Returns from the beer, cosmetics and amusement taxes are to go to poor relief.

Operate to Jan. 1, 1935.

All of the bills are operative to January 1, 1935.

While the beer tax is effective immediately, Carlton Dargusch, state tax commission expert said it would not be "collectable" until August 1.

Stamps to be pasted on the bottles will be used for bottled beer until a system of using caps sold by the state is perfected. It will be August 1 before stamps can be obtained.

The fuel tax for schools will be (Continued on Page 5)

BY COLUMBIANA

Council to Petition U. S. For Aid Under Recovery Fund

COLUMBIANA, July 21—Councilmen today announced completion of action whereby the village of Columbiana will ask the United States for $16,000, as its share of the proposed $300,000 to be expended under the National Recovery act, for public works.

The money, if obtained, will be used in improving the village water supply whereby it is hoped to remove iron from the water. Numerous complaints on the water have been received by village authorities in the last few years.

Elliott Roosevelt and Texas Girl To Be Married, Chicago Story Says

Miss Ruth Gogins of Fort Worth, Tex., who, it is rumored, will be the next wife of Elliott Roosevelt, recently divorced son of the President, likes this photograph of herself.

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 21—The Chicago Herald and Examiner said today that Elliott Roosevelt, 22-year-old son of the President, will marry Miss Ruth Gogins of Fort Worth, Tex., tomorrow at the home of Miss Gogins' uncle, George C. Swiler, of Burlington, Iowa.

The newspaper's story, which was copyrighted, said that it was able to make the announcement "on the highest authority."

"Under the couple's plans last night," the article said, "the wedding will take place in Burlington, Iowa, at the home of George C. Swiler, an uncle of Miss Gogins."

Miss Gogins and her mother quietly left town yesterday afternoon bound for a destination which Elliott refused to reveal.

The newspaper added, however, that Elliott's sister, Mrs. Anna Dall, told reporters:

"I may have an important announcement to make tomorrow." A reservation, the Herald and Examiner said, was made by Elliott with an airplane line for next Sunday for himself, Samuel Platt, his attorney, Mrs. Platt and a "Miss Platt."

Attorney Platt, the newspaper said, admitted he had no daughter taking the plane and said he did not know who the "Miss Platt" was.

Young Roosevelt and his former wife were divorced recently in Minden, Nevada. Mrs. Roosevelt is the former Elizabeth Donner, Philadelphia society girl.

Guardian, Union Depositors' Bail Today's Pay-Off

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, July 21—The "pay-off" to 418,000 depositors of the closed Union and Guardian Trust companies started today.

Three hundred thousand checks for a total of $4,000,000 were in the mails and another $53,000,000 was promised for payment, starting Tuesday.

Merchants, anticipating a buying boom, augmented their sales forces, some by as much as 15 per cent.

Automobile dealers weeks ago prepared for the pay-off by placing large orders with manufacturers.

Meanwhile, a state senate committee investigating the collapse of the city's second and third largest banks in adjournment until Tuesday. It has heard startling disclosures of the activities of officials of the institutions.

WHITE IS READY TO SET SPECIAL SESSION'S DATE

Federal Government's Relief Order to Bring Speedy Action

OHIO, ITSELF, MUST YIELD MORE FUNDS

This Course Compulsory If Additional U. S. Aid Is Expected

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 21—Any possibility that the extra-ordinary session of the legislature might be delayed beyond next month was removed today with definite announcement by the federal government that Ohio must provide additional relief funds if it expects aid from Washington.

In a letter to Governor White, the federal emergency relief administration said its grants to Ohio could not be increased until the state itself does more than it has toward economic rehabilitation.

The governor had informed Harry L. Hopkins, the administrator, that Ohio needed $4,000,000 of the $250,000,000 federal relief fund. Hopkins, however, recalled that he previously had telegraphed the chief executive that federal regulations require the states and their subdivisions to carry two-thirds of the emergency relief expense.

Legislature Fails
The administrator said further that the recent legislature failed to make adequate provision for meeting the federal plan.

Governor White said the letter was not unexpected since federal agencies already had rejected an Ohio request for a relief loan of $10,000,000. In fact, it was the latter development that prompted the executive to announce he would call a special legislative session next month to seek new revenues for poor relief.

With a second failure to obtain federal aid, the governor was expected to fix the definite date of the session prior to his departure tomorrow for California where he will attend a meeting of governors.

He also planned to act finally on several taxation bills passed by the regular session. These measures would become law at midnight tonight unless signed or vetoed.

May Call Other Sessions
Consideration of the bills was started by the governor Wednesday. He vetoed a slot-machine tax and word was circulated he might reject the beer cap levy. The other bills call for taxes on amusements, cosmetics and fuel oils.

After the legislature disposes of the emergency taxation program, Governor White said he would consider the calling of two other special sessions—one in January to enact liquor control laws and another next spring to pass a permanent revenue plan.

Final decision on the later sessions will depend upon the outcome of the legislative repeal movement.

In the event of repeal, it was explained, the state would send the control laws and new "hard-liquor" tax laws would be required.

Would Straighten Campbell Finances

CAMPBELL, O., July 21—The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, largest single taxpayer in this industrial city, today engaged R. L. Lippencott, part time sinking fund employee of Youngstown, to survey Campbell city finances preparatory to recommending probable drastic action to restore the city's financial standing.

The action was announced after a meeting of company and city officials yesterday. It was spurred in part by the Ohio Edison company's suit against the city to collect a $200,000 electric bill. Campbell has defaulted several hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds.

He told a sad story, asserting that his wife and other children had been killed in the California earthquake. His actions subsequent to his arrival were peculiar, however, and his case was taken up with county authorities. He was later removed to the village jail at Lisbon where he attempted to set fire to his cell, while his daughter was given into the keeping of Supt. and Mrs. John P. Neill of the county infirmary.

Today Mayor G. Cecil Rauch of Lisbon announced the receipt of a letter from the wife in which it was disclosed that the name, J. J. Delaney, was one of several aliases the man is said to have used at various times.

According to the letter, Mrs. Gascon is expected to come to Lisbon where, upon providing proof that she is the mother, she will be given the little girl.

Alliance Man Hit By Engine, Killed

ALLIANCE, July 21—Struck by a northbound passenger train as he stood waiting for a southbound freight train to pass, Melvin Patton, 40, of Waverly ave., North Webb street, was instantly killed at the Bolton crossing of the C. & P. railroad on the Alliance-Marlboro rd. Thursday.

Patton was on his way to work for Lexington township and stood beside his bicycle with a lunch in his hand as the tragedy occurred. Stark County Coroner T. C. McQuate, who was making an investigation, said Patton was struck by the pilot beam of the engine and his body tossed away from the train's path. The man's skull and chest were crushed and both arms broken.

GRAIN TRADERS TAKE HOLIDAY AFTER "CRASH"

All American Exchanges Closed After Sudden Price Collapse

WILL PUT LIMITS ON FLUCTUATIONS

Wheat Drops, Upwards of 17 Cents, Rye 26, Others Similarly

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 21—The grain trade drew a long breath and relaxed today as trading was suspended at all the American exchanges to allow rest from the violent sessions which culminated yesterday in the worst price collapse in many years.

Following the action of the Chicago board of trade in suspending trading for the day, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Duluth were quick to fall in line and take a holiday. When trading is resumed tomorrow there will be limits on daily fluctuations.

Causes Little Surprise
The action taken by directors of the board of trade late last night caused but little surprise. The reason given for the suspension of trading was that tired employees needed some rest, but veteran observers saw it as a means of checking the frenzy which characterized transactions late yesterday. Then wheat dropped, upwards of 17 cents, rye 26 and other grains in proportion.

Although it was a holiday in the pits, hundreds of traders circled uneasily around the vast trading floor of the exchange with huge crowds in the gallery watching curiously. The comparative quiet of the trading floor was in strange contrast with the uproar that usually prevails. Brokers' clerks worked many hours checking their records.

A few transactions were taken care of in the cash market, mainly business that had to be cleared on newly arrived shipments.

Glad of Holiday
Traders gathered in knots to talk the situation over, but the shouting and gesticulating was absent. Most of them were glad of the holiday. The tense worried expressions of yesterday gave way to smiles and jokes and the enforced holiday was taken as "good medicine" for the speculative fever which had infected the pits practically all the time since the lifting of the national bank holiday.

The Winnipeg market was open as usual, as was Liverpool, and the chief activity of those who "talked shop" was in watching ticker quotations from these market centers.

Tennessee Is 19th To Approve Repeal

(By Associated Press)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 21—Changing that "the grossest possible fraud" was perpetrated in Memphis and Nashville in yesterday's referendum on the Eighteenth amendment, John F. Baggett, chairman of the prohibition campaign, said in a statement today that the vote is being "very carefully studied with a view to contesting the election."

Tennessee became today the 19th state to approve repeal of the 18th amendment as Oregon proceeded to ballot on the problem.

The margin of victory for anti-prohibitionists in Tennessee was smaller than in any of the other states which have held popular elections on the proposed constitutional change.

As returns from yesterday's election needed completion today, the repeal lead was approximately 9,500 votes. The third southern state to vote on and approve repeal, had been dry for years, the legislature having passed a dry law in 1909. This year 32 beer was legalized.

In Oregon today, leaders of the repeal movement predicted 2 to 1 victory. Dry leaders seemed agreed that they had no more than a "fighting chance."

CALLS ON EMPLOYER, WORKER AND PUBLIC

Every Citizen, In Fact, Summoned to Help; More Than 5-Million Employers Will Be Asked To Sign Agreements

By WILLIAM L. BEALE, Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, July 21—Every citizen today was summoned to a covenant with President Roosevelt to re-employ the jobless millions by Labor day.

To more than 5,000,000 employers was addressed a request from the President to join his national recovery administration in a mass attack on the depression by voluntary agreements to lift wages and shorten hours.

To the public went an open appeal for cooperation "by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of the N. R. A." signers of the presidential agreement for boosting national purchasing power.

Powerfully driving this war-like plan for uniting the country in creating re-employment was a carefully mapped "campaign of education" that brusque Hugh S. Johnson said will "saturate the country with the hope of this thing."

President Roosevelt himself will take to the people the plan he and Johnson agreed upon finally late last night.

"I'm just as certain it will work as I am sitting here," said Johnson, back at his desk after the presidential conference. "I'm staking everything on it."

The heart of the plan: Every employer will receive through the mail July 27 an agreement addressed to him by President Roosevelt. Upon signing, this binds him to maintain a fixed minimum wage not to exceed a fixed maximum work week during the president's emergency re-employment drive from Aug. 1 to Dec. 1.

The basic hours, labor and wages; Child labor outlawed. Fourteen to 15 a week minimum and a 40-hour week for so-called white-collar labor.

Thirty to 40 cents an hour minimum for a 35-hour week and an 8-hour day maximum for factory and mechanical labor.

Equitable readjustment of pay above the minimum. Every signer receives a certificate.

CLAIM RESULTS IN KIDNAP WAR

Tuohy Gang Members are Blamed In Factor Abduction

(By Associated Press)
FLAT, Alaska, July 21—Wiley Post, Oklahoma flier, resumed his aerial jaunt around the world today at 7:28 a. m. Fairbanks time. (12:28 p. m. in Salem).

Joe Crosson, Alaskan pilot, who brought a new propeller for Post's plane from Fairbanks, circled over the field here at 7:25 a. m. and "three m. later Post joined him in the air. Both planes headed east for Fairbanks where Post will refuel for his flight to Edmonton, Alberta.

The weather was good. Post was exhausted and extremely nervous when he nosed his plane over in a cross-wind and damaged its landing gear and propeller yesterday afternoon after a 3,000 mile flight from Khabarovsk, Siberia.

He had become lost in the fog over interior Alaska and had been following one river and then another in a brave battle against the clouds to reach Fairbanks.

His plane was repaired during the night.

When Post passed over Nome at 8:30 a. m., Fairbanks time (1:30 p. m. E. S. T.) yesterday he had a lead of more than 30 hours on the time to that point two years ago.

Although he lost some time here, he was still ahead of the old record.

The Rogers Plan

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 21.—The nearest thing we had to "non-kick tax" so far has been the gasoline tax, because they knew the money was going for roads. Now that repeal is assured, they better get in early and have it understood what the revenue will go to.

What would be the matter with using every cent just for charity and unemployed relief, and make the tax very high, even as high as 50 per cent. If it was a 50 per cent tax, and it went to charity, you couldn't drink alone, some poor family would be drinking with you. Five-cents-a-glass beer would cost you a dime. You get the beer, somebody gets a loaf of bread.

Anybody could give a big champagne party and spend hundreds of dollars and not even a Communist would kick on it. Even at double the price it wouldn't be as high as the country has been paying.

Yours,
Will Rogers

WHITE-COLLAR WORKERS

Administrator Johnson's professed concern over the white-collar workers failure to clean up its proper advantages under the industrial recovery act is a welcome sign. This vast group, unorganized and scattered in every field of activity, has no voice to speak for itself. Worse than that, it has no mind of its own with which to think.

It is neither here nor there in the organization of labor and management. In a manner of speaking, its activities make it a class attendant upon labor, but a class which labor is not encouraged to regard as essential to its well-being. From another standpoint, it is the apprentice group of the management class—a group which, all too often, is expected to be willing to give up something for the sake of wearing a white, instead of a blue, shirt.

In times of prosperity when labor's wage scales boomed upward, the white-collar scale mounted slowly and modestly in its wake. In the depression, when labor's earning power suddenly was eliminated, its attendant class unexpectedly found itself in the breadline. Although labor, through organization, was able in many cases to minimize its hardship by various schemes, the white-collar workers were able to do nothing but bow their heads to hard times.

When the patterns of recovery administration took shape, starting with the code submitted by the cotton textile industry, white-collar employees scanned them in vain for relief proportionate to that promised to labor. Apparently, they were to be left to the mercies of management and the problematical success of the recovery program. No minimum wage and maximum working time was set for them.

The inconsistency of ignoring so vast a portion of national buying power in a plan to restore buying power became evident immediately. Administrator Johnson has recognized it was a plan for a blanket agreement of employers to raise all wages and shorten all hours, pending further and more detailed agreements. The white-collar worker, voiceless member of industry's lost tribe, has been promised salvation. With the ingrained skepticism of his type, he will wait for it patiently. Whatever hope he can muster originates in the fact that the men at the top realize at last the necessity of giving him buying power in proportion to his importance in the economic system.

CLEVELAND INVESTIGATION

Entrance of federal and county agencies into investigation of Cleveland's closed banks is an indication that nothing of importance to the public will be left undiscovered. The inquiry being conducted by a committee of the state senate has revealed enough to justify the suspicion that there may have been a great deal of action contrary to public policy in the handling of the banks' affairs.

There was a time when the things that have been disclosed concerning the handling of "other people's money" by officials of two of Cleveland's largest banking institutions would have had a decidedly unfavorable effect on public confidence. Significantly, their revelation at this time probably adds more than it detracts from confidence. The people have been assured of the soundness of banks that have been permitted to remain open. It can do no harm for them to be informed of the reasons why two important institutions were brought to failure.

An important part of the testimony given at Cleveland before the state senate committee shows the virtually complete absence of examination by properly constituted officials. For years depositors were led to believe that their money was protected by supervision of bank management when, as a matter of fact, at least two important Ohio institutions were allowed to operate almost entirely free from supervision.

It is good for depositors to know this. If it does nothing else, it should help to convince them that unified banking under one responsibility is the logical and inevitable answer to their demand for safer depositories.

What Others Say

MODERN YOUTH

Women, says Samuel L. Vaulchain, have come through the depression with fine courage, but the modern young man has surrendered to gloom and sees no opportunity ahead. Gallantry, if nothing else, stops dispute with this observation. But the veteran industrialist goes further and says that the modern girl has more pioneer spirit than her grandmother had, a statement that may be challenged without disparaging the present generation. It has been remarked frequently that women in all generations carry the spiritual burdens with fortitude and give moral force to their men. It was Joseph H. Choate who pointed out that the Pilgrim mothers endured the same hardships as the Pilgrim fathers and had to put up with the fathers into the bargain. Does Mr. Vaulchain mean modern young women must have more fortitude than their grandmothers in order to put up with the modern young men?—San Francisco Chronicle.

Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 21—Thoughts while strolling: Few Broadway wits ever touched Scamp Montgomery, Dave's brother. But he was not press agent like Mizner, et al. "O. K. talkers" hanging around Lindy's. What became of the Dodge twins? Arthur Somers Roche and Harry Evans, of Life, look alike.

Frank Grummit, a Jackson, O. boy, who made good in the city. Warren Williams has the most distinguished hair brush on the screen. And Ned Sparks the coldest pan. That doctrine of exuberance—N. T. G. Helen Dreiser's flaming hair. What has happened—no one seems to age any more?

One word description of Ethel Barrymore—acid. Those girls tubed in knee-length skirts and wearing wide floppy hats. Nobody flounces down a theater aisle like Peggy Fears. Ed Wynn grows thin again, now he's a business man with business worries. Most penthouses have become coconuts.

Bob Garland and his two Boston. Zaz Hitchcock and her sister, Mrs. Earl Benham. One of my favorite people—Francis Albertoni. Has anyone thought up this one about Cuna—Machado about nothing? I could keep you laughing like that all evening. One funny crack after another!

Coincidence of names: Biggest coal dealer in New York is Burns. Post spent his most dissipated days on Broadway street in Philadelphia. Orville Wright made his first flight at Kitty Hawk. Amusing gag saying "Where?" to every remark. A bee zooming around. Go ahead—become me. I'm no account anyway.

A spurious sophistication, usually enveloped around the Algonquin, lived at poetry by Eddie Guest and literature in the Saturday Evening Post. That Guest's poems are read daily by more people than all the poems yearly by the sophisticated and that the prose of the same engineers never appears in the Post, of course, has nothing to do with it. It's coincidence.

On 57th street near Third avenue: A taxi swings to the curb and a young woman with a cigarette hanging from her lips jumps out. She held a basket, like those we used to bring wood to the fireplace, carrying a sleeping infant. A doorman took the basket and went back into the building. She skipped off again into the taxi. And life went on.

At 19 and in the grip of a grand literary passion I once touched off a short story with this: "Roark Desmond, pausing for a moment to light a cigarette on the steps of the Cosmopolis Club, was startled to see a rather beautiful young woman dash from a carriage with an infant. Before he could toss away his match she placed the bundle in his arms." It got even worse as it went along—and came back in a jiffy. But the paragraph above is proof that it might have happened. That's something.

Big Hand for Balbo

No bigger "hand" was ever given a hero than Primo Carnera extended as General Balbo arrived in New York. Here is the new heavy-weight champion in the traditional Fascist salute at the airport.

Over on Third avenue, by the way, I came upon the last of the vanishing drug stores of another day. There was a cigar counter with a clipper and nickel wheel of fortune—always your money's worth but a chance to triple purchasing power. On a shelf, too, I beheld Father Finch's Febrile, Mexican Mustang Liniment, Swift S. S. and Conway's Cobalt Pills. But what turned back the years more than anything was a huge jar of rock candy on a string. I asked for a quarter's worth and they weighed it on one of those old-time scales. Remember?

And the proprietor in a skull cap peered over steel half glasses. A kindly little man, a double for David Warfield, who in his shyness warmed his hands over imaginary fire. He had filled prescriptions for Booth and said the actor always carried peppermint tablets which he believed calmed his nerves.

Henry Sell, from a cactus spot in Arizona, fires this one eastward: "Wrap this around your tongue: 'Surely Shrewsbury shoes should suit snooty students!'"

But I'm no longer a sottle for tongue twisters. I glance at those sent in and toss them nonchalantly to one side. My leisure is consumed in writing lary letters to a laundry. They insist, the lairs, they sent home laundry that was never received—and if you know laundries you realize there is no redress. So I'm getting my revenge twitting them. Just an old laundry twitter.

Quarantine Routs Parrot's Disease

Passing a bird shop the other day, I noticed a sign before a parrot's cage which read "This parrot has been examined by the health authorities and is free from psittacosis." The proprietor of the shop told me he had many prospective customers inquire as to whether it was safe to purchase a parrot. They wanted to know how they could be assured the bird was in perfect health.

Many of my readers will recall the recent epidemic of "psittacosis" or "parrots' disease," as it is more commonly called. The epidemic was traced to a shipment of birds stricken with this disease. The affliction quickly spread to human beings who had contact with the diseased birds.

Disease Rare Now

I am glad to say that by reason of the rigid measures taken by quarantine officials, the disease is now rarely encountered. Psittacosis is never seen in domestic birds. Parrots that are brought to this country from South America and European ports must undergo rigid health inspection before they are admitted to this country and permitted to be sold.

Psittacosis is caused by a germ called "bacillus psittacosis." The germ is transmitted from the diseased bird to those individuals who handle or care for the bird. The afflicted person complains of chills, fever and headache.

This is followed by pain in the chest and persistent cough. In many instances the illness is confused with pneumonia. The signs of psittacosis are sometimes identical with those of pneumonia.

Neglect of the disease is dangerous and may prove fatal. It is especially serious if it afflicts the very young, or elderly persons.

New Serum Effective

Fortunately, it is now possible to treat the more serious cases with a serum called "convalescent serum." This serum has been used with great success in a large number of cases. It is hoped that further studies will lead to the discovery of a vaccine that will be used as a preventive of this disease.

You can be assured of the health of a pet by careful inquiry as to when it was brought to this country and if it has been examined for psittacosis. Bear in mind that a sick bird is without appetite, has a cough, diarrhea and roughing of the feathers.

A bird with these signs should be suspected of psittacosis and not accepted as a family pet. It is a menace to the health of the family. Even if assured of no disease, I would advise that you refrain from purchasing a bird with these signs. When you purchase a parrot, "love bird," parakeet or canary, see that it is in good health and shows no signs of disease. Whenever possible, purchase a bird of domestic breed. If it is a tropical bird insist upon a certificate of health to protect you and your family.

ANOTHER BIG DAY
FLIERS BUSY
CAT-O-NINE-TAILS
By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright, 1933 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

each young gentleman was lashed with the cat-o-nine-tails. When the lashings were over, both were understood to remark that they would do no more robbing with sawed-off shotguns. The cat-o-nine-tails destroyed the glamor of crime.

In this country, when we don't like anything, we talk about it. THE UNIVERSE seems to be getting bigger in spite of scientists, led by Einstein, who had made up their minds to limit the performance of the Creator and say to the cosmos:

"Thus far shalt thou go and no farther."

MOUNT WILSON'S 100-inch telescope discovers new nebulae, or "universes," 300,000,000 light years distant from this earth. For your amusement, figure out how far that is, the distance that light going 186,000 miles per second could travel in 300,000,000 years.

IF THE NEW NEBULA 300,000,000 light years on one side of us are balanced by other universes, as far on the other side, the diameter of that new "cosmos" would be 600,000,000 years and its circumference, the distance around it, 1,800,000,000 light years. A simple-hearted cowboy that lassoed a locomotive, never having seen one, was no more simple-hearted than the scientist that would lasso the infinite.

GENERAL HUGH S. JOHNSON, appointed by President Roosevelt to help regulate wages, hours and other working conditions, appears to be a rugged sort of person, using rugged English. When certain "best minds" object to his plans for restoring general prosperity he doesn't say that they represent "a doubtless highly conscientious element devoted to constitutional niceties."

He calls them "the chiseling fringe," and warns them to "stop chiseling."

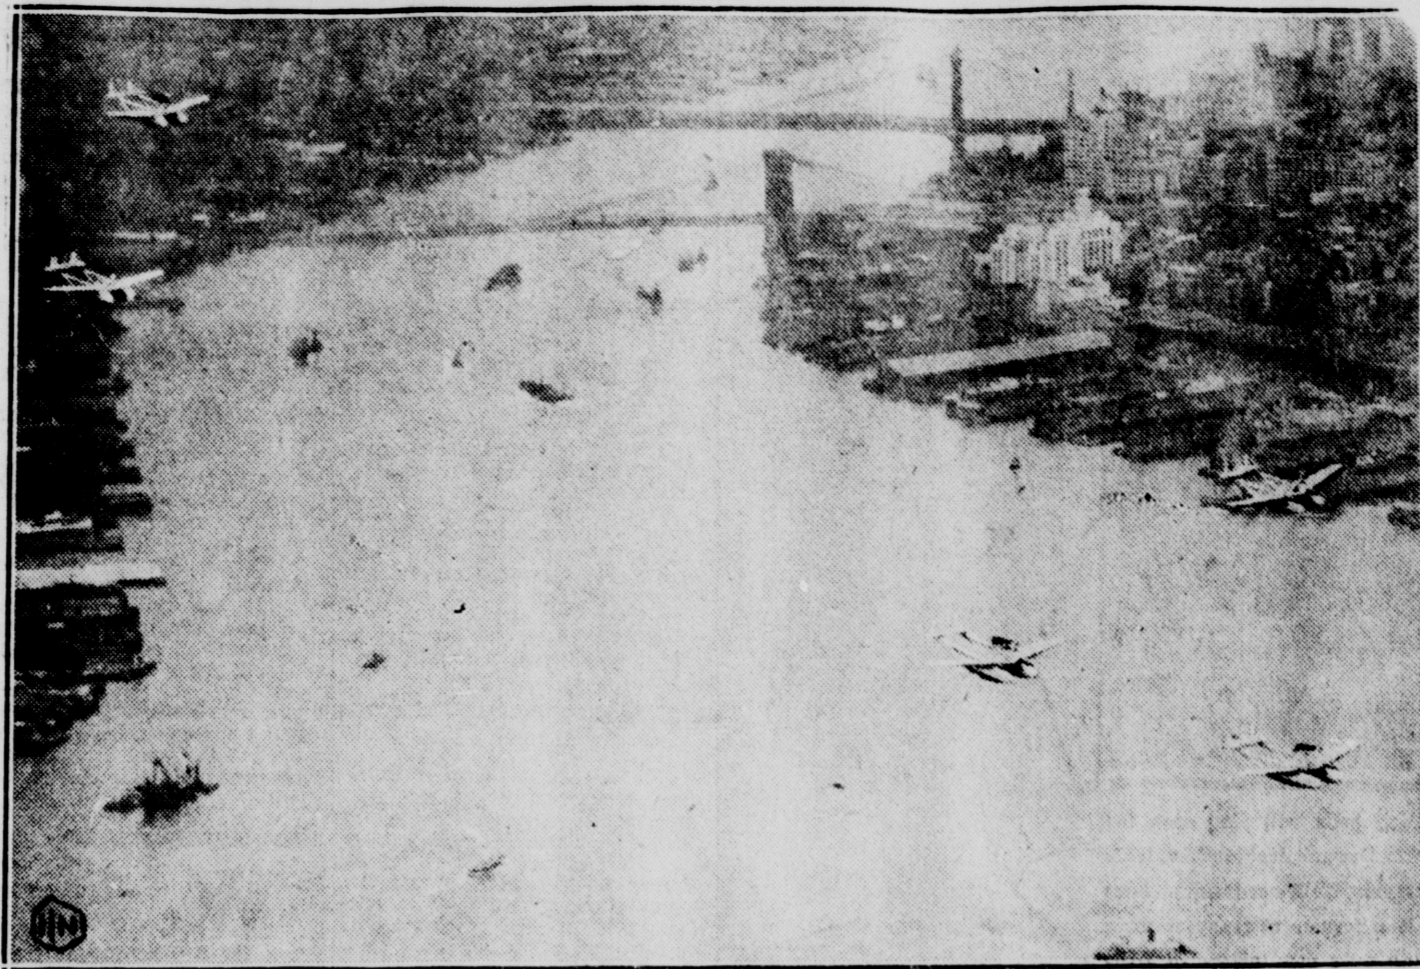

WICHITA, Kan.—William Davis believed that the security of his home was the best bank for his money. He placed his bankroll inside a pillow and sewed up the pillow. He slept on the pillow at night. He awakened to find the pillow slit and the money gone.

MADISON, Ws.—Following the flight of a robin that brushed its wings repeatedly against his head and then flew away a short distance to return, George Falter, caretaker at a golf course here, discovered a fledgling just as it was about to be devoured by a snake.

WHEN the British dislike anything, they try to get rid of it. Two young Britishers, first of the kind in that country, confessed yesterday to robbery with sawed-off shotguns. Importation of the American idea displeased the British judges.

They sentenced the young men to long terms in prison, but first

As Millions In New York Roared Welcome to Balbo's Fliers

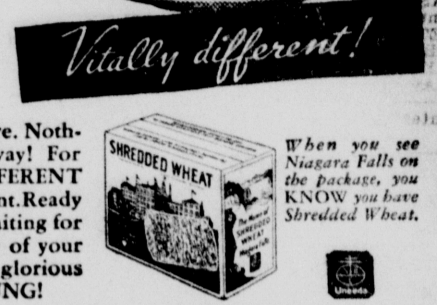

Millions gathered along the banks of East River and on tops of buildings gave a mighty salute to the Italian flotilla of 24 fighting planes as it arrived from Chicago to make a short stay in New York before beginning its return flight to Rome. This remarkable picture, made from the camera plane of International Illustrated News, shows the first squadron of planes approaching the Floyd Bennett Airport, with Brooklyn and Manhattan bridges in the background.

Today's Pattern

CHOOSE YOUTHFUL LINES
Pattern 1505

Put a bit of youth and dash and chic into your summer costume. Three good reasons for making this model! The youth is expressed in its perky flare, rounded neckline, peplum, puffed sleeves (shown on small sketch) and buttoned bodice closing. The dash and chic are reflected in the modish silhouette and the crispness of a lovely printed cotton—dainty, swiss, linen.

Pattern 1505 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yds. 7/8 inch fabric. Illustration is a pattern shown in dressings included with this pattern.

The new summer edition of the Anne Adams Pattern book is ready. Afternoon, sports, golf, tennis dresses, jumpers, house frocks, special beginners' patterns, styles for juniors, and cool clothes for youngsters, and instructions for making a chic sweater are among the fascinating items.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Recipes From Columbia for a Perfect Cup of Coffee

Here are some hints on how to obtain a perfect cup of coffee. A little while ago we discussed boiling, steeping, drip and percolator made coffee. And so, today we will deal with cafe au lait, or cafe au leche as it is called in Latin America, with the demi tasse and with iced coffee.

After Dinner Coffee
It is in the demi tasse of clear coffee that real coffee quality or lack of it betrays itself. There is a real reason for serving the small cup of fine clear coffee after dinner and so it is important that it should be perfect. It has none of the after effects of other stimulants. It prevents that sluggish, drowsy feeling that often follows hearty eating of a generous meal.

And it has an exhilarating effect that is harmless yet definite. In preparing coffee for after dinner service two things should be remembered. Make the coffee stronger than usual unless you are serving a special blend for after dinner coffee. Most good grocers stock it. But assuming that you are using the regular coffee, use about one and a half heaping tablespoons of coffee per service cup of water instead of one heaping teaspoon, and serve hot.

Delicious Iced Coffee
Like the demi tasse the making of iced coffee requires a slightly different procedure if a really delightful drink is to ensue. Make according to your favorite method but be sure to use about half again as much coffee; otherwise the melted ice weakens the beverage to such an extent that it lacks the charm and refreshing delight that should accompany a good iced coffee. Never use made-over coffee in preparing iced coffee. While it may be made in advance of serving and chilled in a pitcher containing cracked ice a more scientific way is as follows: Make fresh coffee immediately before serving.

Put cracked ice or ice cubes in each glass and pour the hot coffee over the ice. A new way to make the coffee perfect is to use ice cubes frozen from liquid coffee instead of from water. This will prevent over-dilution of iced coffee, as well as adding to the flavor. Cream and sugar according to individual preferences.

A Colombia Favorite
To make real coffee with milk as it is made in Colombia, where some of the world's finest coffee is grown, brew coffee as you would for iced coffee (one and a half tablespoons per service cup of water). Heat equivalent amount of milk to just below boiling point. Serve by pouring equal parts of coffee or milk in.

Nina's Fourth

Nina Wilcox Putnam, author, is running Peggy Joyce a great race in the matrimonial sweepstakes. Here she is with her new (and fourth) husband, Philip Eliot, English writer. They were married at Las Vegas, Nev., and are honeymooning in Hollywood.

The Stars Say:

For Saturday, July 22
According to the sidereal movements this day may develop both personal and business affairs along lines of intrigue, subtlety and peculiar complexities, difficult, dangerous and baffling to turn into beneficial channels. There may be quite unforeseen upheavals or disruptions, calling for much tact and sagacity to defeat cunning and underhand methods. Strategical shrewdness, even conspiracy may be necessary to meet this condition, complexioned even the most intimate affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which the curious, subtle, crafty and obscure may predominate in all affairs, business and private. These call for wariness and alertness to crafty and shrewd methods of attack, especially in dealing with employers or superiors or secret relations. The romantic or domestic relations may be swayed by emotional, mysterious or spiritual stress. Sudden changes, journey and removal are probable, but be slow and cautious.

A child born on this day may be restless, emotional, romantic, fond of travel and adventure.

Notable nativity: Phillips Holmes, screen actor.

Suicide Is Verdict

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., July 21.—After investigating the death of Jess Redmond, Jr., 18, whose body was found beneath a warehouse corner J. M. Mullikin said he would return a verdict of suicide. The youth had been shot between the eyes and above the heart by a 22 caliber rifle.

Body Recovered

SANDUSKY, O., July 21.—Missing since July 8, the body of Kavery Galewski, of Cleveland, was found wedged in a bridge over the Vermilion river at Vermilion. Belief was expressed that he suffered heart attack while climbing upon a bridge abutment to fish.

Tailors Boost Pay

CINCINNATI, July 21.—Wage increases of 10 per cent were announced by the Leonard Custom Tailors company and the Englander Tailoring company, each employing about 300 persons. It was not said whether the increases restored all or part of previous cuts.

HOMEMADE DRESSING TABLE

A dressing table ought to be one of the high spots of the room. Many women realize this are creating their own, preferring this to using one that is part of a bedroom suite. It is fun to assemble one's own niche of beauty and it brings out one's sense of decorative values and ingenuity as well.

I have seen writing desks, lowboys, ordinary tables with triple mirrors, oval glasses, or long narrow mirror panels, made into fascinating units that were useful as well as decorative and far more interesting than any factory made piece. Then, too, a bought piece does not always fit into the size or shape of the room, while an assembled unit will take care of an awkward corner beautifully.

Changing the Writing Table

Another good scheme was that of adapting a writing table to the job of being a dressing table. It was done in cool jade picked out with silver. A back mirror was fixed with two adjustable wings. The e were all of plain sheet glass. Instead of wood frames, there were narrow aluminum bands. Behind each band were tiny electric bulbs.

which throw down a merciless glare but are kind to the face that is no longer young. A carpenter and an electrician, both neighborhood shops, contributed to make the sort of dressing table that one usually only reads about.

The Spare Room Dresser

Many women, too, are picking up lovely old pieces of glass and using them for decorative effect on dressing tables. This scheme is infinitely prettier than the most ornate set, and is capable of some unusual effects. One woman has picked up here and there some wonderful old blue glass bottles and jars, all of them in an intense blue. Her table is done in a deep black with silver lines and with the blue the effect is perfectly lovely.

For the spare room, the little table made with a bought skirt of taffeta or other fabric to match the spread, is always prettier than just a cold bought table. Very often the skirts are on arms that swing out, the silk skirts hiding a series of compact drawers or shelves.

Good Furnishings

By the way, see to it always that the dresser in the spare room is furnished properly. Not just that old box of pink powder that no one uses, but a container of a good Rachel shade that becomes almost every type of color. See to it that there is a container of cold cream, a bottle of astringent, a box of hazel is always good, and a supply of bronze and black thin hairpins. A box of gay little colored powder puffs and squares of cleaning tissues will help to make your guest-praise you as the perfect hostess.

Aimee's David Sings Finale to Romance

AT THE WEDDING IN A PLANE

ON THEIR HONEYMOON

HUTTON AS ACTOR IN RELIGIOUS PAGEANT AT TEMPLE

News that David Hutton, baritone husband of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, famous evangelist, is suing for divorce in Los Angeles, did not come as a surprise despite the denials of rumors even up to within a few hours of the time of the filing of the complaint. Aimee is enroute home from Europe and her 250-pound singer hubby states the "baby hoax wire" sent from Paris was the last straw. Hutton and Aimee eloped to Yuma, Ariz., by airplane less than two years ago. He charges mental cruelty.

U.S. APPEALS FOR RECOVERY DRIVE

Administrator Calls On Employer, Employee and Public

after leaving the White House. One was a copy of the agreement every employer receives, the other a bulletin describing "the president's re-employment program."

The agreement began with a note "to every employer" and was signed "Franklin D. Roosevelt." It read: "1. This agreement in part of a nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment and thus increase purchasing power and restore business. That plan depends wholly on united action by all employers. For this reason I ask you, as an employer, to do your part by signing."

"2. If it turns out that the general agreement bears unfairly on any group of employers they can have that straightened out by presenting promptly their proposed code of fair competition."

The bulletin described the plan. It explained an agreement would hold until a code for the particular industry was approved, fixing wages and hours. It was warned that for every trade or industry which has not submitted a code by Sept. 1, the president will exercise his authority and order hearings to proceed on the preparation of one.

"Swift moving changes require swift action," the bulletin said, "a rapid rise in prices and mass production is going on. Mass purchasing power must rise as fast * * * In this national emergency we can not delay broad re-employment while we wait for codes."

"Before Labor day—six weeks—away—it is possible to solve the problems of re-employment through individual agreements with the president. But to do this the country must act quickly, vigorously and boldly as one man—get together in one powerful effort—declare a truce on selfishness. * * *

"The employees' part is to act at once and all together to submit and scrupulously comply with agreements with the president to shorten hours and raise wages to cooperate with employers in peaceful adjustment of differences."

"Employees Must Cooperate" "The employees' part is to do their best on the job and to cooperate with N. R. A. and employers in peaceful adjustment of differences. More can be done now for workers through this cooperation of 125,000,000 people than can ever be done by discord and dispute."

"The public's part—and especially the bulk of women (who control the part of buying)—is to support all those employers and employees who do their parts to put breadwinners back to work. * * *

"There is no force here except conscience and opinion. * * * But this is not a ballyhoo campaign. * * * This is a test of patriotism. * * *

Seven-membered recovery boards are created in each of the commerce department's 24 districts to supervise the work. A nine-membered recovery board is created for every out compensation and will be named by the president to represent the various classes of society.

OHIO TAX PLAN IS LAW TODAY

augmented by approximately $6,000,000 provided under the White-more intangibles tax bill already signed by the governor.

As Governor White made his final study of the bills today, he had on his desk estimates prepared by Dargusch on the probable annual returns from each measure.

They were: Admissions $600,000; Cosmetics $2,000,000; beer cap tax additional $1,000,000; 50 cent on all over $14 a 31-gallon barrel, $4,000,000; fuel tax—from $9,000,000 to $11,000,000.

Cites Need for Relief

"If it were not for this present drastic need for relief," said the governor in announcing his decision on the bills, "I would veto the entire program."

He said they would not provide revenues sufficient to meet their intended needs and placed "a burden upon business."

"But," he added, "with our legislature not in session I can not take from your relief virtually the only funds that will be available for that purpose."

The entire taxation program is inadequate and will fail of its purpose by falling short by 33 1/3 per cent of the estimated revenue."

He said he would call a special session of the legislature at once if he were "certain that the general assembly would do."

Should the relief situation "become acute," the governor said he would call the legislature even earlier than "sometime" between August 15 and September 1, as planned.

Possibility of repeal of some of the senate's tax bills loomed as the chief executive declared he would have three or four alternate programs to present at the special session.

"And," he added, "the senate program will not be included as an alternate."

Governor Still Bitter

Still bitter over the general assembly's refusal to accept the tax program he presented last winter, the governor said:

"During the recent session of the general assembly I presented two tax programs. The first, a selective sales and nuisance tax program for poor relief, was criticized generally; but the same plan, when adopted as the senate taxation program, has received general commendation and has the apparent support of public opinion."

"My second plan was a general sales tax to provide poor relief, finance schools and reduce the burden of real estate taxation."

"The sales tax was rejected and tax programs X and Y, therefore, enacted the senate taxation program of nuisance taxes."

When the assembly meets in special session, he said, "I will request the removal of any element of unfairness or discrimination of the tax levies (the senate program) in question."

Expanding the delay forecast in collecting the beer cap tax, Dargusch said the state has no "crowns" and that it would be at least 10 days before they could be obtained to use on the bottles.

Aids Farm Recovery

Theodore G. Bilbo, former Governor of Mississippi, is shown on the job in the Department of Agriculture in Washington where he is aiding the farm recovery program. Governor Bilbo should know his job as he was born and raised on a farm.

Balbo Returns To Gotham; Mussolini Visit Here Hinted

WASHINGTON, July 21.—General Italo Balbo and his doughty band of aerial voyagers went back to New York today, their hearts warmed by congratulations from the nation's capital for their flight to Chicago, from Italy.

The cumulative effect of the greeting was such that General Balbo speaking in Italian translated amid whooping cheers, remarked:

"From the enthusiasm we found in Chicago, New York and Washington, we had started to think we really had done something."

The Italians went to New York by early train, instead of flying, so they could get some needed rest.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The New York American says Premier Mussolini, elected by the reaction given General Italo Balbo in the United States, may visit this country shortly.

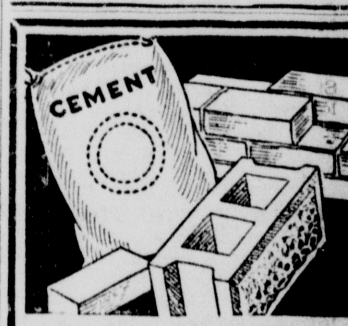

The Italian leader, the paper says, may come to confer with President Roosevelt on world peace and economics.

Generoso Pope, chairman of the mayor's reception committee to Balbo, is quoted as making the disclosure after a conference with Balbo. He did not give Balbo as authority but he said the Italian air minister "hoped Mussolini would be able to come to the United States soon."

Get Wage Increase

COSHOCTON, O., July 21.—The Moore Canning and Manufacturing company of West Lafayette, near here, announced that a 10 per cent wage increase for 450 employees would become effective Monday. Whether the increase restored previous cuts was not announced.

Dairyman Is Given 10-Cent Price Hike

CLEVELAND, O., July 21—The farmer-producer of Class 2 and 3 milk today sold his product at a price increase of 10 cents a hun-dredweight. Furthermore, he was told the higher price would be figured on all the milk he had sold since July 1.

Members of the milk dealers board of Cleveland voted the increase, retroactive to July 1, but said it would not be reflected by an increase to consumers. Class 2 milk is that from which cream is extracted. Class 3 milk is used to make ice cream and cheese.

Higher prices for the consumer were forecast, however, by representative dealers. The milk board rejected a proposal to increase the price paid the farmer for class 1 milk, the type left on the housewives' doorsteps, but the dealers said they believed a price concession to farmers would be found necessary, thereby causing an increase in the price to consumers.

The question of these higher consumer prices will depend, the dealers said, on the outcome of a meeting Tuesday between the milk board and various producer organizations.

Ask Vote On Beer

JEFFERSON, O., July 21—A vote on local sale of 32 per cent beer is asked in a petition filed with the Ashtabula county board of elections by 335 electors of Kingsville township. The petitioners want decided the question of controlling beer sales under class C and D permits.

Find No Bodies

BELLEFONTAINE, O., July 21—
A search of the wreckage of 20 cars in the derailment of a fast freight train removed fears last night that several men might have been killed.
Loss in merchandise and equipment was estimated at $25,000 by officials of the Big Four railroad.

tendent of scientific temperance instruction for the W. nona union.

Here are their names: Essays—
Helen Stangle, Esther Brantingham,
Helen Ward and Robert Louden; poetry—Daniel Kenst, Ruth Farmer and Virgil Burson.

Rev. Lydia Brantingham, county president, presided. She and Mrs.
George Mountford of Salem had the devotionals. Rev. Anderson, pastor of the Methodist church,
Winona, gave the benediction.

Mrs. Brantingham speaks address at the afternoon session
using for her theme, "The Gold Standard or God's Standard." The speaker is of the opinion that people are more interested in getting gold than seeking God, and that national affairs are operated on the plan of "almost selling ourselves for gold."

Mrs. George McGrail, president of the Winona union, was in charge of the afternoon session, and Mrs.
William Soud of Winona was acting secretary.

Mrs. Mountford, county superintendent of Bible in the public schools, reported the work of this department and also told of a meeting conducted at the county jail on Mother's day. A report of contest work was given by Mrs. Pauline Everstine, Salem, county superintendent.

Reports of the unions represented were given. A song, "Here are the Voters" was sung by members of the Loyal Temperance Legion. The women sang a response to the children. Mrs. Mayhew conducted a salute to the Christian and national flags.

There are 12 unions in the county and six of them, Winona, Colum-biana, Leetonia, Rogers, Damascus and Salem, were represented.

NEW DEAL IN BOXING
MANY CHANGES IN GAMES

New York boxing fans are awaiting with no little interest the start of a new indoor season. Just as there are "new deals" in many other things, so is there one in the boxing situation in Gotham.

No one would have been believed if he had prophesied one year ago the drastic changes which have taken place. For one thing there is a large heavyweight champion, a large Italian by the name of Primo Carnera. Then there is a new guiding hand at Madison Square Garden, probably the world's boxing capital. Col. John Reed Kilpatrick has succeeded William Francis Carey as president.

Of the boxing commission which was headed a year ago by the dynamic James A. Farley, only one member remains. He is Gen. John Phelan, who succeeded Farley as chairman. William Muldoon is dead. His place has been filled by William J. (Bill) Brown. A third commission member yet is to be chosen.

JACK SHARKEY has passed from the championship picture, a victim of Carnera's mighty right uppercut. Maxie Adelbert Baer, the inconsistent one from the West Coast, has succeeded Max Schmeling, as challenger to the throne. Schmeling still is a headliner—or will be when he fights again—but it's none too probable that he will get another shot at the crown he won sitting down and lost on a rank decision.

Sharkey is toying with the idea of fighting "frequently and often" this fall and winter, but he may decide to devote his energies to the hydrangea bushes near his Chestnut Hill (Mass.) estate, and hunting. All the principals of this summer's chief show have been involved in affairs of the heart during the past few weeks. Jack Dempsey, the promoter, has married the "cheerful little earful," Hannah Williams; Schmeling has married Ann Onda, a gay, little blonde Czechoslovakian film comedienne; Baer, who romanced with wily June Knight, while his wife, Dorothy Dunbar, sought a divorce, has kissed and made up with Dorothy.

You fans who know what's doing in the church league are also eligible to pick all-star teams. . . several more Class A outfits have been received. . . it's unanimous for some players such as Arthur Borton, Joe Kelley, Bob Campbell and Ted Scott. . . Bill Trutta's going back to the Indians. . .

MASONIC NINES CLASH AT PARK

Beardmore Battlers Take 19-14 Decision Over Reese's Squad

In a hard fought battle that was always in doubt until the last man was out, Earl Beardmore's softball tossers trimmed Joe Reese's nine, 19 to 14, in one of the feature events at the annual Masonic picnic yesterday afternoon at Centennial park.

Reese's combine outslugged the winners, 18 to 15, but couldn't make as good a use of their slugs as the opposition. C. West, Haulley, J. Sanders, Fitzpatrick led the hitting for the winners while Reese, D. Coe, Koenreich, Stoff, McCarthy, Wernet and Jones collected two blows each for the losers.

BABE IS CALLED FROM BENCH AND SWATS 3 HOMERS

Gets Single, Besides, and Drives In Eight Runs During Bat Orgy

CHICAGOANS LOOK LIKE CONTENDERS

Harder Yields Three Hits To Yankess and Hits Captures 3-1 Tilt

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

precipitous burst of hitting by Babe Herman, bunched only last Saturday for hitting weakness, again has pointed out that the Chicago Cubs may be the team the other four National League pennant contenders will have to beat to win the flag.

Drives In Eight Runs

Herman got his chance yesterday because Riggs Stephenson was laid up with a cold, and walloped three home runs and a single and drove in eight runs in a 10 to 1 triumph over the Phillies.

The Cubs have won 17 of their 23 contests since June 28 and today are only 2½ games behind the Giants, who dropped at 6-5 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday. Pittsburgh remained only a half game behind Chicago.

The Braves drew up to a spot only a game and a half behind the fourth place St. Louis club by beating the Cardinals 3 to 2.

The American League duel between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators remained in status quo when both leaders dropped tough games to second division clubs.

Tribe Beats Yanks

Mel Harder of Cleveland limited the Yanks to three hits to give the Indians a 3-1 triumph and Tommy Bridges of Detroit rested Alvin Crowder of Washington in a 1 to 0 flinging duel as each team got only four hits.

Earl Averill's triple in the sixth was the big blow of Cleveland's seven while Detroit scored its lone run in the eighth when Frank Donjek doubled and came home on Billy Rogell's base hit.

The Reds drew up a half game behind Brooklyn and Philadelphia, which are virtually tied for sixth place in the National league by defeating the Dodgers 1 to 0.

More good pitching cropped up in the American league as George Higgins limited the Chicago White Sox to five blows while the Boston Red Sox won 5-0. Lefty Grove of Philadelphia and Roland Stiles of St. Louis yielded four runs apiece in the first inning, then settled down for a fine mound duel that ended in the tenth when Pinky Higgins singled with the bases filled and gave the Athletics a 6 to 5 victory.

World Fair Sports Events Prove Big Flops; Headlined Games Fail to Draw

BY JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports Editor

CHICAGO, July 22.—Considerably more than 2,500,000 visitors have passed through the gates of the World's Fair, but other than from an artistic standpoint the sports program has been anything except a howling success.

In the matter of artistry, the National Collegiate track and field meet, the Ross-Canzoneri lightweight champion fight, the international soccer games and the Gaelic football encounters have been everything that could be desired. But the patrons either remained home in large numbers or preferred the manifold splendors of the fair itself.

One exception was the major league's all-star baseball game which drew a capacity crowd of 49,000.

Figuring that proximity to a Century of Progress would be a magnet for the customers, the promoters put on their several events at Soldier Field. The Gaelic football champions, who attracted crowds of 50,000 in New York, played before some 1,500 here.

The international soccer champions, who call that day lost which does not attract 60,000 in the large metropolitan areas, drew several hundred patrons here. The show was a palpable bust.

Then came the National Collegiate games and the Interscholastics. Records went careening and smashing all over the premises, but on the last night of the event there could not have been more than 5,000 persons huddled in the vast expanse of the stadium which normally seat 110,000.

Before the National Open golf tournament at North Shore there was the prospect of another Sarazen victory and the end saw one of the most spectacular finishes in the history of the event, but while the galleries were good there was no grand rush for admissions at any time during the play.

A match that should have drawn some 18,000, even without the presence of a World's Fair, the Ross-Canzoneri thing attracted less than 12,000 and saw the promoters going down for $10,000. This sad loss to the Chicago Stadium people was attributed, in a measure, to a $7.50 top for tickets. There were those who contended the bout would have drawn $75,000 with a $5 top.

And so it seems that the fair is doing very nicely in the matter of attendance, but sportively it has left a deal to be desired.

France Is Doomed To Lose, Says Star

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 21.—Whether the United States or England wins the interzone Davis cup finals starting at Auteuil, today, Helen Wills Moody thinks France is doomed to lose the international tennis trophy in the challenge round next week.

"Fred Perry is playing splendid tennis and will give both Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison hard matches," the woman's champion said on her arrival from England yesterday, "but unless Jean Borotra plays singles, which he may do, France scarcely seems able to hold the cup. Henri Cochet is not playing as well this year as he did last."

Mrs. Moody's own immediate tennis plans will take her into the Wightman cup matches Aug. 4 and 5, and the national championships later in that month. She will be seeking her eighth American title. She also may play in the Maidstone club invitation tournament at East Hampton late this month.

Proves Fish Story

CARLISLE, Pa., July 2.—Here's one fisherman who can substantiate his story that he hooked "one that big."

Harry Squibb, local angler, caught a giant brown trout that weighed eight pounds and measured 27 1-4 inches.

Squibb said he frequently hooked the "monarch," as the trout was generally known, but the fish always succeeded in breaking away. Finally he resorted to an unusually large hook which he baited with live minnow, and landed the monster fish only after a long struggle.

HARDWARE WILL OPPOSE CHICKS IN LEAGUE TILT

Softball Games Scheduled Today; Two Hardball Tilts Also Booked

Calkins Chicks and Salem Hardware teams, principal rivals for the second round crown in the Class A league, will clash in the feature game at Centennial park field today.

They collide in the first game at 6 while the Salem China company opposes the Trade Class, new entry in the circuit, at 6:45.

No games were played yesterday.

An attractive two-day schedule of hardball games is also scheduled in Salem over the weekend.

The newly organized Salem All-Stars will oppose the strong Hillcrest club at 2:30 p. m. Saturday while Salem's Semi-Pro are booked to oppose East Liverpool at the same hour Sunday.

Both contests will be played at Centennial park field.

Members of the All-Star team are requested by their manager to report in uniform for Saturday's game.

East Liverpool will bring a strong team for the Sunday contest with Joe Kelley's aggregation.

Jean Turns Pro

PHILADELPHIA — Jean Shiley, the 22-year-old Olympic high jump record breaker, and June graduate of Temple University, has set an M. D. degree as her goal.

"But, I can't study medicine unless I get a job," she explained. So, Jean has turned professional and will spend the summer as swimming and tennis instructor at a country club.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Oregon efforts will be enriched by $40,000 from dog-racing if the first quarter of a 60-day meet at the Multnomah Stadium here can be used as a criterion for future business.

During the first 15 days, the state received $9847.67 which includes $5347.67 representing the state's 2 and 1-2 per cent "take" of the pari-mutuel betting machines in addition to the $300 per diem fee.

"Strictly Personal" and Grey Western Are on State Menu

THE double bill this week at the State theater consists of "Strictly Personal," featuring Marjorie Rambeau, Eddie Quillan and Dorothy Jordan, and a Zane Grey western, "Under the Tonto Rim," starring Stuart Erwin.

Different Film Story

"Strictly Personal" deals with the "get-acquainted" club throughout the country and the inside story of those who seek this method of finding the romance and friendship life has denied them.

You'll brush a tear away now and then at the appealing theme of the story—the loneliness of hundreds of people.

Miss Rambeau and Edward Ellis as the proprietors of such a club, seek to fulfill the need of each of the members. With them is their ward, Dorothy Jordan, and the three run a quiet and orderly organization. An Eastern gangster, played by Louis Calhern, tries to "muscle in" on the club and convert the legitimate business into a blackmailing racket.

The Villain Enters

He kills a lady for her jewels, tries to plant the crime on Ellis, and attempts to run away with Mary (Miss Jordan).

But, through the efforts of Eddie Quillan, a newspaper reporter in love with Mary, they learn of the attempt in time.

Zane Grey, holder of many world's writing records has had more of his books made into pictures than any other author.

"Under the Tonto Rim," which features, besides Stuart Erwin, Fred Kohler, Raymond Hatton and Verna Hillie, is the 27th picture to be made from one of his novels.

Erwin as Dumb Cowhand. The picture is the story of Erwin as Tonto, a cowboy who just could not do anything right.

Failing at every other branch of cattle work he is finally assigned to keep an eye on cattle in a corral. When they are stolen from under his very nose, he finally takes up hog-raising.

Two cronies who work with him decide what he needs is excitement and so they take him to a border-town saloon and spread the report that he is a dangerous desperado.

What follows make up the basis of the picture and as all Zane Grey western pictures it is highly entertaining and with Erwin as its star it is doubly so.

Court News

Common Pleas Entries

In the case of Samuel Caplan against P. Newman and others recently filed in common pleas court, Judge W. F. Lones has overruled a motion to vacate the award of a board of arbitration, and a judgment has been entered on the award as follows:

That the plaintiff is entitled to all the iron in plants Nos. 2 and 3 of the Homer Laughlin China Co., except the piping. Judgment entered in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant for $430 for iron removed. Arbitration fees fixed at $25 each or $75 in all, and judgment has been entered against each party for one-half of the fees and one-half of the costs of arbitration. Judgment has been entered against the defendant for the costs of the suit in common pleas court, and exceptions entered for the defendant. The court has fixed an appeal bond at $500.

Because the charge of contempt was not sworn to in the alimony action filed by Marguerite Myers against her husband, Leslie Myers, the citation for contempt has been refused by the court. Exceptions have been entered for the plaintiff.

Leave has been granted the defendant to answer at once in the partition action filed by Benjamin Fisher against Frank M. Fisher.

An appraisal has been set aside and it has been ordered that another execution be issued and a new appraisal made in the foreclosure action filed by the Farmers National bank of Salem against Thomas Cadwallader.

A motion to the petition has been sustained by the court in the case of T. G. Bailey against the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., with exceptions entered for the plaintiff.

In the case of Frank J. Farrell against Eva Johnson, wherein a judgment for $10,000 is sought in the original petition, a motion that the plaintiff be required to separately state and number his several causes of action has been sustained, with exceptions entered for the plaintiff.

'PREMIERE'

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

Copyright - 1932 by KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Attending the premiere of her latest motion picture, beautiful Leni Luniska, the star, is confronted by a shabby, emaciated man, who emerges from the crowd crying, "Leni! It is I, Karl Kruger. Do you want me to tell the whole world?" Leni turns white. She tells the man she will talk with him inside. Lucky Cavanaugh, a gambler, fascinated by Leni's beauty, saunters into the theater after Kruger. He prevents Kruger from making a scene, and has him placed in a private office until after the show. Cavanaugh then bribes an usher to seat him in Leni's box. During the performance Douglas Gates, Leni's elderly escort, proposes to her. She is tempted to accept him to get away from everything.

CHAPTER THREE

"I'm afraid you are too thrilled with success to listen to me," he half-smiled, "but I shall try to be patient."

Leni touched his hand. "Thank you, my dear," she said softly. "You are so nice."

So nice and nothing more, thought Leni in her tense heart. The touch of his hand gave her no strength. Tonight it was strength she needed to face Karl Kruger; vigor of mind and courageous wisdom.

There must be no giving way to blind despair, no surrendering to panic that paralyzes clear thinking. By an immense effort of the will it would be necessary to gather her forces for the ordeal. And the sooner the better. It would be dangerous to avoid seeing Kruger. She would have to face him immediately and forestall by whatever means possible the menace spawning in his murky brain.

"I am going to slip out of the box for a little while," Leni said to Gates, drawing her cloak around her shoulders. "Please—I want to be alone."

To Gates this was a display of imperious temperament which he was too polite to combat. He rose and stood aside; the small rustle of

"What's the matter—afraid I'm going to bite you?" said Kruger without removing the cigarette from his mouth.

her leaving distracted no one's attention. Leni's talking ghost on the screen already had achieved a recognition that absorbed all interest from its human original.

Unseen and unconsidered, she tipped up a darkened aisle to an obscure rendezvous where past and future moved swiftly toward fatal collision.

Lucky Cavanaugh turned his head and watched her until she disappeared. Then he turned and saw her again on the screen, while a trace of the fragrance she wore still lingered in the box.

The office into which Karl Kruger had been led was one of several burial. He was the theater treasurer and he was about to lock up the money carefully for the night. The real burglars, who were equally methodical, lurked behind the last row of seats in the gallery. They were dressed in the uniforms of ushers and had crawled down from the roof. Their undertaking was precarious but they had left very little to chance. Every detail had been planned to theatrical perfection.

Outside a side door downstairs there was a third, also distinguished as an usher, who was the lookout. He resembled somewhat the genuine article who might have sneaked out to drag on a cigarette.

According to the burglar's plans the room adjoining the treasurer's office should have been empty, but no safe-blowers, however foresighted, could have predicted the catapulting of Karl Kruger into the scheme. Nor, for that matter, Leni Luniska, who made inquiries and was escorted by the house manager himself to the room occupied by the waiting Kruger. These events annoyed but did not dissuade the determined safe experts.

The treasurer had locked the office and gone. So far, so good. It was child's play for the robbers to enter the office with a skeleton key and wait, still as mice in the dark, until the unexpected conference next door broke up. The wall was thick and the connecting door heavy. Kruger's and Leni's voices were but dim babble. In any case more than an hour remained before it would be time to explode the safe.

This explosion was to be a matter of accurate timing, a feat without precedent. Leni's screen picture was called "Madeira" and it dealt with the story of a little French cocotte who followed her penit into the trenches in 1914. In the sixth reel, the picture reached its climax during a terrific bombardment from German heavy artillery.

At a preview in Santa Barbara the previous week the sound effect had been so violent the audience was deafened. Windows had rattled and chandeliers shaken. It was the loudest bombardment ever screened and a mere safe blowing, to be let loose at its height, would attract no more attention than a pop gun in a boiler factory.

Kruger, sitting deep in the comfort of a leather chair, did not arise when Leni entered. Without moving he looked at her strained face. One of her hands clutched the opera cloak over her breast, the fur brushing her smooth neck.

"Shut the door!" said Kruger without removing the cigarette from his mouth. "What's the matter—afraid I'm going to bite you?"

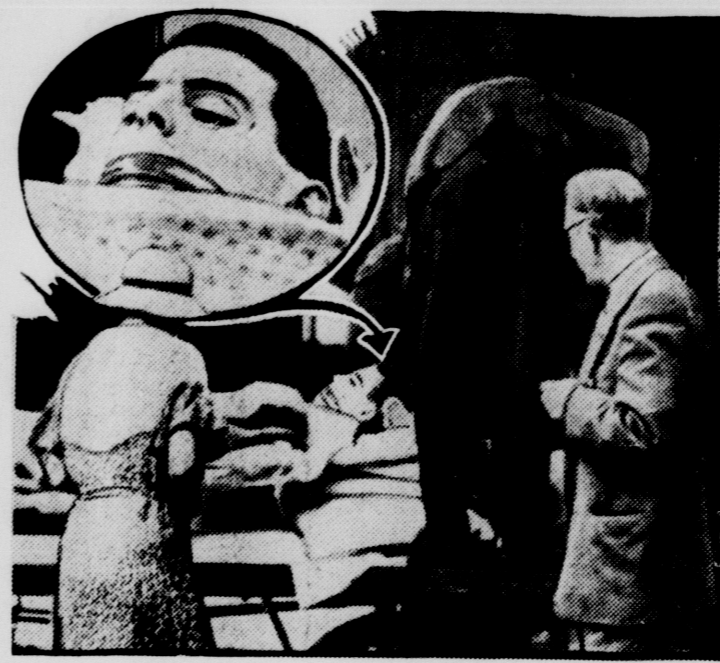

She stood gazing at him without speaking while a little dark pool formed between her eyes where the faintly penciled brows drew together. The cloak rose and fell visibly with her breathing. Kruger, too, was affected despite his effort to be demure; a dark vein in his temple throbbed with a steady beat.

"What are you doing here? What do you want of me?" Leni asked. Her voice was low and almost polite.

Kruger nervously threw his cigarette to the rug and straightened forward aggressively.

"You know very well what I

Boy Fights Against Odds to Live

A remarkable exhibition of the "will to live" is being given by Schyler Jacobs, 18, now a patient in a Philadelphia hospital. He fractured his spine in two places in diving in shallow water at Mobile, Ala. Told that he had a fighting chance, he said, "I will fight—I will live." He suffered intense pain without flinching as he was taken to Philadelphia, completely encased in a plaster cast, for special treatment. He is shown on arrival.

want," said Kruger loudly. "You—in your fine feathers—you wish I hadn't showed up, hey? It is not pleasant to have a starving bum hanging round in his rags, is it? No—oh no! Not when he happens to be your husband! It would be so nice and convenient to forget all about Karl Kruger, wouldn't it?"

Leni's breathing was difficult and she had a cold sickness in her breast. Crack-brained and egotistical, this man had it in his power to poison her whole life.

He could reach up with his dirty hand and pull her down again into the mud and despair from which she had climbed by the almost superhuman force of her own will—by the soul-drive of her own revolt against the shame and misery of a haunting past.

Grunow
SUPER-SAFE REFRIGERATOR

Is the ONLY Refrigerator on Exhibition in the Hall of Science

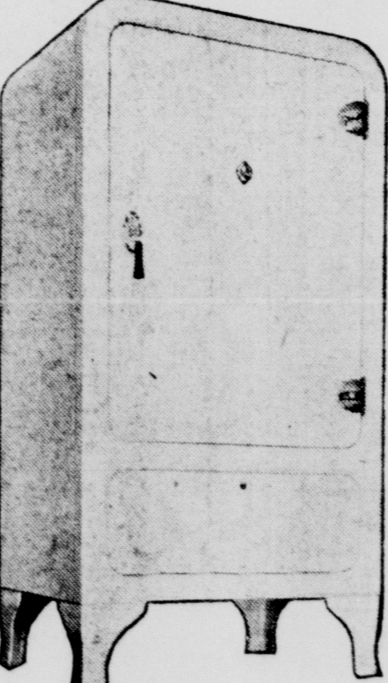

HALL OF SCIENCE

THIS honor cannot be bought and it was not bought! Grunow was selected because it is the only household refrigerator to employ the "magic refrigerant"—CARRENE—Permitting Operation Without Dangerously High Pressures. CARRENE is Non-Poisonous, Non-

Explosive, Non-Inflammable! under all ordinary conditions of temperature and pressure. The unique honor of having the only domestic refrigerator in the Hall of Science at the Chicago "Century of Progress" Exhibition was conferred on Grunow because scientists know it is

10 years ahead

If you cannot arrange to get to the Chicago World's Fair, we will gladly give you the same thrilling demonstration of the Grunow unit that you would see at the fair—right here in our store. We will show you the safety and dependability of Grunow's exclusive refrigerant—CARRENE—perform feats with it that partake of magic... Come in and see.
